

Mandelieu - France

Monday, 11 June 2007

Â

We filed our flight plan for 8 am departure out of

Morocco

. We arrived at the airport before 7 am to get fuel and leave for Mandelieu (LFMD), France.

They told us there are no avgas and we need to go to

Rabat

airport (GMME).

Â

After a short 20 minutes flight, we landed at

Rabat

and requested fuel. To our surprise they rolled two 55 gallon drums with avgas , and a hand pup to give us fuel.

Â

Our flight to Mandelieu was very smooth at flight level 110, until we got to Eastern part of Spain

. It was a little bumpy over the mountain and we lost radio communication due to mountain, but it only lasted about 35 minutes.

Â

Flight over the Mediterranean see was breathtaking. We landed at Mandelieu about 6:45 pm.
